

Simply add individual texts to your purchase and sales documents

With the Report Layout Pro app, you can easily insert individual texts into your purchasing and sales documents. You can insert text for each document or define your own text modules that are automatically inserted into previously defined documents. In operational business, you can use text modules from your portfolio and insert them quickly and easily into the documents.

The text modules can be provided with a start and end date. Different languages are also possible. The individual texts and text modules can be inserted as pre-text between the document header and the document lines or as post-text after the document lines.

You can also provide your receipts with a logo in the header and a footer. This gives your documents a professional layout that the standard function of Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central does not offer.

The use cases for the use of pre- and post-texts in your receipts are diverse:

- You can provide your documents with special agreements for certain customers, for example.
- You can also easily indicate short-term special features such as deviating delivery times in your receipts.
- Current information such as the announcement of an upcoming trade fair can be added to your receipts for a specified period of time.

With the Report Layout Pro app for Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central, important information can be easily inserted into your documents as pre- and post-text.
